The publishers of www.gerardwobrien.com and www.gerardwobrienestateplanning.com (The Publishers) hereby inform you that the contents of our web site are not statements or restatements of any law, state, federal international or otherwise; and should not be relied on as such.

This is general information which is intended at the time of publication to be correct. If you do not obtain advice from your own legal, tax, or accounting advisors, you affirmatively assume the risk for any results which are born of actions or inactions, based upon any and all reasonable or other interpretation of the information contained in the site.

No Relationship of any sort Intended or Implied

The publishers expressly intend no relationship be formed in any manner, either express, implied or by unilateral perception, due to the use of this web site or any of the information contained in or on the web site. The information is not an invitation, solicitation, or offer for an attorney-client relationship. Do not rely on information provided herein, and should always seek the advice of competent counsel in the reader's state.

No Attorney-Client Privilege and Client Expectations

The publishers expressly intend that the viewer, reader, or any other person visiting the site must have no expectation whatsoever of confidentiality with regard to any information disclosed or contained in his or her e-mail(s). There is no exception to this rule. Stating or requesting in emails, posts, comments or any other form of e-communication that the material is confidential, for eyes only, do not disclose, private, etc. will not change the public nature of the communication. This web site being open to the public, members of the public can and may take and use or misuse any information posted and we can protect anyone from, nor prevent anyone from doing so.

E-communication does not create an Attorney-Client Relationship

Moreover, any reader who sends an e-mail to Gerard W. O'Brien & Associates must realize this one-way and unasked for action, does not, and will not create an attorney-client relationship. A response to such e-mail does not, and will not create an attorney-client relationship. In addition, the use of Internet e-mail for confidential information is discouraged. This website contains general information regarding the State of California, its laws and federal law relating to California Tax payers. The owner of this web site does not wish to represent anyone where this web site fails to comply with all laws and ethical rules of that state.
